

WHAT'S TRENDING NYC

Brown Harris Stevens

*For New York City's Enthusiasts,
We want to keep you informed
with the Newest and Latest...*

Leonel Piraino

Licensed Associate Real Estate Broker

212-906-9363

917-701-2363

lpiraino@bhsusa.com

View my Listings > >

Rock out at Governors Ball

Governors Ball is one of the most-anticipated summer concerts in NYC. This year's Governors Ball will bring big-name rappers, beloved veteran acts, rising pop stars and more to Flushing Meadows Corona Park from Friday, June 7 through Sunday, June 9. More than 60 artists will perform across the weekend Post Malone, Rauw Alejandro, The Killers, 21 Savage, SZA, and Peso Pluma. Here's the full lineup. Go to the festival's official website for all the ticketing options.

READ MORE ▶

Cool off at hotel and rooftop pools

When it gets hot, cool off in style. Several of New York's finest hotels offer day passes for their rooftop pools, most of which include chaises and cabanas for lounging in addition to a full-service bar. The combination of two of New York's favorite things—swimming pools and rooftop bars—creates an elevated summer oasis worth throwing down some cash for. Make sure to cross one, if not all, of these pools off your summer bucket list.

READ MORE ▶

Be awed by a sailing championship

Party at Lincoln Center

SailGP (that's Sail Grand Prix) will bring 10 international teams to the waters to race turbocharged F50 catamarans at more than 60 miles per hour. Fans can watch the action in stadium-style seats close to shore along Governors Island. The Mubadala New York Sail Grand Prix runs from June 22 to 23, and single-day tickets are on sale now for $100/person.

Here's how the championship works: Rival national teams compete in close-to-shore racing at a series of events across the globe for a chance to earn points. At the last event of the season, the three highest-ranked teams will face off in a winner-takes-all race to be crowned the SailGP champion. Even if you don't know anything about sailing, this adrenaline-filled event promises plenty of fast-paced fun.

READ MORE ►

Grab tickets for Justin Timberlake's show

Pop star Justin Timberland is back for his first tour in five years, following the release of his sixth studio album, Everything I Thought It Was. JT is coming to NYC on Tuesday, June 25, and Wednesday, June 26, 2024, at the iconic Madison Square Garden in Midtown. Tickets are on sale here.

Lincoln Center is gearing up to launch the third annual Summer for the City festival. From June 12 through August 10, New Yorkers will get to attend over 200 free or choose-what-you-pay events that span a variety of topics, genres and locations. You can read through the entire calendar right here but standouts include virtual reality experience The Dream Machine, which features five distinct game-like interactive performances; a night of opera and drag with two superstar queens from RuPaul's Drag Race, Monét X Change and Sapphira Cristál; and a silent disco night as part of India Week with DJ Rajuju Brown.

READ MORE ►

Watch a free concert at Hudson Yards

Hudson Yards puts on a great series of free events for everyone, every summer. This summer series called "Backyard at Hudson Yards Presented by Wells Fargo" is curated by The Bowery Presents and returns huge acts like Keke Palmer, David Archuleta, Brynn Cartelli, Chayce Beckham, Ray Bull, and more. A complete schedule of Backyard at Hudson Yards presented by Wells Fargo programming and events can be found at the Backyard at Hudson Yards page.

READ MORE ►

READ MORE ►

Admire art on The Met's rooftop

This year's commission sends a playful yet extremely poignant and timely message about children who find themselves in war zones. The exhibition, titled Abetare, is on view through October 27; it's included with general admission.

The artist, Petrit Halilaj, was born in war-torn Kosovo in 1986 and had to flee his home during the Yugoslav Wars in 1998. He lived with his family in a refugee camp in Serbia for a year, where he drew pictures of war scenes that he had witnessed back home. The sculptures on the roof were inspired by doodles Halilaj found at the school he attended in Runk, Kosovo before it was demolished in 2010.

READ MORE ►

Shop 'til you drop at Hester Street Fair

The Hester Street Fair is back for its 15th season bringing together extraordinary local vendors for a bustling outdoor marketplace. The market features handmade jewelry, ceramics and candles, pet accessories, vintage clothing, seasonal pies, soju-spiced cocktails and lots more. Find all the fun at the Seaport at Pier 17 (89 South Street). Here's what's on the schedule this year: — Girl Power Weekend, June 1-2 — Picnic Performances at Bryant Park, June 1, 6, 7, 10 14, 21, 28, 29 — Pride Weekend, June 22-23 For a full rundown of vendors, check out Hester Street Fair's website.

READ MORE ►

Father's Day in NYC guide

This Father's Day, NYC has much to offer your old-man. Do some sight-seeing at parent-friendly New York attractions, grab a cocktail at one of the best whiskey bars, or book an appointment at one of the many spas in NYC for men. Plus, forget the old boxers-and-socks routine and discover where to get top-notch gifts for Dad that won't hurt your bank account. When is Father's Day? Father's Day is on Sunday, June 16, 2024 (it takes place on the third Sunday of June every year). Got it? Have you put in your smartphone calendar? With an alarm? Good, maybe set another alarm three weeks beforehand just in case—you'll want to be good and ready this year.

READ MORE ►

Watermark Beach is back for summer at the Seaport

The buds have bloomed, the temperatures have risen, and the city's best parks are filling up with folks in serious need of a vitamin D boost. Yes, summer is on the horizon and with it comes the return of some of our favorite outdoor bars, including Watermark Bar, which will be back as the tropically-themed Watermark Beach this May.

READ MORE ►

SEE IT NOW

Curated List by Sharon Hoge

While stepping into summer step into one of these galleries to appreciate a range of art treasures, two of them with seasonal themes.

If you're around on June 18th join in the festivities of the 46th annual Museum Mile Festival when a dozen or so Upper East Side museums and galleries open free to the public from 6-9 pm – with music and festivities up and down Fifth Avenue rain or shine.

READ MORE HERER>>>

Spring Fever

Mnuchin Gallery

Using a variety of compositional tactics employing color, texture, and movement, works by Frank Stella, Andy Warhol, Alexander Caler, Joan Mitchell, Mark Rothko and more collectively embody the vitality and dynamism of the spring season.

Closes June 15

READ MORE ►

Wayne Thiebaud Summer Days

Aquavella Gallery

Hot dogs, bathing suits, beach scenes and other summer subjects painted in candy-colored impasto over multiple decades invite viewers to relax among scenes of warmth, indulgence, and distant serenity.

Closes June 14

READ MORE ►

Enter Andrew Wyeth

Schoelkopf Gallery

Inspired by Maine's deep significance to the artist, works in tempera, watercolor, drybrush, and pencil examine the stirring emotional resonance of Andrew Wyeth when at age 20 he burst onto the New York art scene making headlines with his sold-out 1937 exhibition.

Closes June 28

READ MORE ►

Suki Seokyeong Kang

Tina Kim Gallery

Centering on the exploration of tension, boundaries, and balance, Kang's critically acclaimed multi-media works negotiate a harmony between old and new creating dynamic forms inspired by Korean culture yet deeply engaged with contemporary social issues and art history.

Closes June 15

READ MORE ►

Calder

Richard Gray Gallery

A monumental black and white sculpture and two important mobiles are among Calder works of the 1950s and 60's when the artist was striving to create space and movement at ever more immersive scales expressing the breadth of his invention in color, volume, form, gesture, and motion.

Closes June 21

READ MORE ►

Laura Letinsky For, and because of...

Yancey Richardson Gallery

Glassware, a ceramic vase, and detritus left behind by other La Maison Dora Maar artists- in-residence are subjects in Letinsky's works deconstructing the traditional still life to exalt the tattered remnants of domestic life.

Closes July 6

READ MORE ►

PHOTO CREDITS

Copyright: All artworks are Copyright: © Wyeth Foundation for American Art/Artists, Rights Society (ARS), NYCourtesy: Courtesy of Schoelkopf Gallery, Photo credit: Olivia Divecchia Image credit: Laura Letinsky, 100 no, from the series Who Loves the Sun, 2023. Archival Pigment Print. Image size: 40 x 32 inches, paper: 44 x 35 1/2 inches. Edition of Seven. Courtesy Yancy Richardson. Spring Fever. Photography by Tom Powel Imaging." Copyright: All artworks are Copyright: © Wyeth Foundation for American Art/Artists, Rights Society, (ARS), NY, Courtesy: Courtesy of Schoelkopf Gallery, Photo credit: Olivia Divecchia

BrownHarrisStevens.com

NEW YORK CITY · HAMPTONS · PALM BEACH · MIAMI · WORLDWIDE

BHS PARTNERING
WORLDWIDE

LP LUXURY
PORTFOLIO
INTERNATIONAL

Leading
REAL ESTATE COMPANIES OF THE WORLD

All information is from sources deemed reliable but is subject to errors, omissions, change of price, prior sale or withdrawal without notice. No representation or guaranty is made as to accuracy of any description. All measurements and other information should be re-confirmed by customer. All rights to content, photographs and graphics reserved to Broker.

Trouble viewing this email? View in browser | Unsubscribe / Subscription Preferences